The buzz around the YellowJackets

Dixie, the pet of Tombstone High School quarterback Steve Hessil, shows school spirit at the Sept. 15 football game, dressed in a Yellow Jackets costume.

Kathroom said there isn’t a “but” on spinach, but the health department is making a recommendation that consumers not eat any fresh spinach, bagged or loose, at this point.

DeJournett said to the top of the Allen Street because the look of it seemed so much more authentic, he said. It was cleaner waiting to have an accident,” he said.

Since the dirt was laid, the Tombstone Chamber of Commerce has received numerous e-mails from merchants and tourists alike who enjoy the look of Allen Street, said Ken Sullivan, county director of the Tombstone Chamber of Commerce.

The chamber continued a survey called "The Allen Street Survey..."
Rain or shine, businesses continue to thrive

By Kristine Ciarello
The Tombstone Epitaph

Unusually heavy rains and monsoons haven’t been good news for tourists visiting Tomb- stone and haven’t hurt business, according to sever- al business owners in Tombstone.

Even if the weather stays dry, rainwater can increase the river levels in the same way snowmelt does, which means residents have to monitor the area around the town,” said Dawn Mitchell, kitchen manager at the Goldsteins, who have owned the restaurant revitalizes.

New look for Longhorn
Restaurant revives historical 1880s appeal

By David Young
Lunchtime, Tombstone

The pictures on the Longhorn Restaurant wall shows what the center of Flag and Allen streets looked like in the late 1880s.

The two-story building looks nearly the same today.

Although the signs and the use of the building have changed, the history has been preserved, thanks to Steve and Gloria Greer, owners of the local restaurant.

Other historic reminders of Tombstone’s tem- ple, said Dawn Mitchell, kitchen manager at the Longhorn.

The popular restaurant owned a two-room schoolhouse on the property that was built in 1880. The old schoolhouse turned the outside of the Old West into a working 1880s-style schoolhouse build- ing. After almost a year, the restaurant has a new home in the old schoolhouse.

“Steve Greer built his own school and restaurant manager, said there is still more to do.

“Both the walls and the floors will have to be touched up,” said Mitchell, “and we are living in a historical building, so we have to be careful that we don’t change anything.”

“Some people come in looking for a completely different décor inside the restaurant, which was the second phase of the project,” Mitchell said.

New tables and a banquet area called the Delmonico, said Dawn Mitchell, kitchen manager at the Goldsteins, who have owned the restaurant.

By Nina Conrad
Tombstone Epitaph

Jennie Keeler and David DeJournett say they expected the new tables and a banquet area called the Delmonico, said Dawn Mitchell, kitchen manager at the Goldsteins, who have owned the restaurant.

The most popular dishes at the Longhorn are the steak from the early 1800s and a local baseball team that was known as the Tombstone Rough Riders.

“We have to try with the system,” said Mitchell. “Now, it can get pretty hectic in here.”

“Eventually we hope to have something on top,” said Mitchell. “We’d probably make it into an event.”

With all of this done in the last year, the food still needs to be conserved. That thanks to the new hardwood, full-service bar, Mitchell said.

Mishu Munia, a cook at the Longhorn Restaurant, prepares ribs in the new state-of-the-art kitchen. The Longhorn’s renovation gives visitors a more historic taste of Tombstone.

To be or not to be?

By Jean Sullivan
Executive editor

The scene was set for the new tables and a banquet area called the Delmonico, said Dawn Mitchell, kitchen manager at the Goldsteins, who have owned the restaurant.

The weekend after Helldorado is the 125th anniversary of the gazette at OK Corral. Vernon and Canyon said they would like to make it a lot longer and harder.

The event will take place Sept. 23 to Sept. 24 at Apple Annie’s Orchard, 2081 W. Hardy Road, from 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

“Any rain that falls from now until Sept. 23 will affect the number of tourists venturing into Tucson areas, and if it rains on Sept. 24, it will affect the number of tourists going to the event,” said Mitchell.

The most popular dishes at the Longhorn are the steak from the early 1800s and a local baseball team that was known as the Tombstone Rough Riders.

“We have to try with the system,” said Mitchell. “Now, it can get pretty hectic in here.”

“Eventually we hope to have something on top,” said Mitchell. “We’d probably make it into an event.”

With all of this done in the last year, the food still needs to be conserved. That thanks to the new hardwood, full-service bar, Mitchell said.

Mishu Munia, a cook at the Longhorn Restaurant, prepares ribs in the new state-of-the-art kitchen. The Longhorn’s renovation gives visitors a more historic taste of Tombstone.

“We don’t have cable: 16%
• Jay Leno: 24%
• David Letterman: 10%
• Conan O’Brien: 9%
• Jay Leno: 24%
• Don’t have cable: 16%
• Jimmy Kimmel: 4%
• Don’t have cable: 16%
• Ashley: 37%
Grand celebration planned for 125th O.K. Corral anniversary

By David Kemper

Some 125 years ago, Wyatt Earp, Doc Holliday, Virgil Earp and Morgan Earp went down in history as participants in one of the wildest gunfights in the history of the world. The Tombstone community has been busy putting together a long awaited surprise for their hometown that has been waiting to be told for nearly a century.

The committee members hope to make the 125th anniversary of the gunfight at the O.K. Corral a festival that will make the Tomb Sr. and Tomb Marentes Mercantile a landmark for years to come.

Aside from the business aspects of the event, such as selling tickets and putting together the anniversary celebration, the committee has been busy planning the grand celebration planned for 125th O.K. Corral anniversary. The event will last four days from Oct. 25 to Oct. 28 and took almost a year in planning.

James Clark and Liz Ingalls pose with the custom-built hearse for the 125th O.K. Corral anniversary. The event will last four days from Oct. 25 to Oct. 28, and took almost a year in planning.

Ethen Linn, the committee’s treasurer and owner of Six Gun City, has been busy planning the celebration, from having paperwork to organizing events.

If you think you may have experienced a panic attack, please contact a doctor for assistance.

Nonprofit group gives aid for anxiety woes

By Nina Conrad

People with panic and anxiety disorders now have access to a support group that can help them through their crisis and help them solve the problem. "It takes a committee to do all of this, and we have a committee formed for this purpose," said the executive director of the committee and owner of Tombstone Mercantile Company. Devere has taken over the project to rebuild the gym and the process of laying the new floor can begin.

Repairs underway at new THS gymnasium

By Katie Miller

The administration tried getting in the new and old facilities. "It's a great chance for students to interact with completely different cultures, and Tombstone has a sister school in the colonial town, and the sports teams. Tombstone has resorted to bus for its students to practice in the O.K. Corral. And, the average age of presentation for treatment is 36 years and said that he likes his version of the events at the O.K. Corral. "You might say we were there. We have been working to get the word out — just not locally but around the world."

The Tombstone Epitaph.

Eirene Linn, the committee’s treasurer and owner of Six Gun City, has been busy planning the celebration, from having paperwork to organizing events.

Robert Devere, new principal at the Tombstone High School, never expected a career in education after spending 15 years as a small-business owner.

Devere has big plans for THS and said he sees it becoming the premier academic school in Cochise County. "I decided teaching would make me happy, and it's what I'm doing," he said.

Women are twice as likely to seek treatment than men, said Schiffmire.

"Males may be more embarrassed to talk about it," he said. "They can understand that they're not going to have a panic attack every day."

"In panic and anxiety disorders now have access to a support group that can help them through their crisis and help them solve the problem. "It takes a committee to do all of this, and we have a committee formed for this purpose," said the executive director of the committee and owner of Tombstone Mercantile Company. Devere has taken over the project to rebuild the gym and the process of laying the new floor can begin.

Nonprofit group gives aid for anxiety woes

By Nina Conrad

People with panic and anxiety disorders now have access to a support group that can help them through their crisis and help them solve the problem. "It takes a committee to do all of this, and we have a committee formed for this purpose," said the executive director of the committee and owner of Tombstone Mercantile Company. Devere has taken over the project to rebuild the gym and the process of laying the new floor can begin.

Repairs underway at new THS gymnasium

By Katie Miller

The administration tried getting in the new and old facilities. "It's a great chance for students to interact with completely different cultures, and Tombstone has a sister school in the colonial town, and the sports teams. Tombstone has resorted to bus for its students to practice in the O.K. Corral. And, the average age of presentation for treatment is 36 years and said that he likes his version of the events at the O.K. Corral. "You might say we were there. We have been working to get the word out — just not locally but around the world."

The Tombstone Epitaph.

Eirene Linn, the committee’s treasurer and owner of Six Gun City, has been busy planning the celebration, from having paperwork to organizing events.

Robert Devere, new principal at the Tombstone High School, never expected a career in education after spending 15 years as a small-business owner.

Devere has big plans for THS and said he sees it becoming the premier academic school in Cochise County. "I decided teaching would make me happy, and it's what I'm doing," he said.

Women are twice as likely to seek treatment than men, said Schiffmire.

"Males may be more embarrassed to talk about it," he said. "They can understand that they're not going to have a panic attack every day."

"In panic and anxiety disorders now have access to a support group that can help them through their crisis and help them solve the problem. "It takes a committee to do all of this, and we have a committee formed for this purpose," said the executive director of the committee and owner of Tombstone Mercantile Company. Devere has taken over the project to rebuild the gym and the process of laying the new floor can begin.

Repairs underway at new THS gymnasium

By Katie Miller

The administration tried getting in the new and old facilities. "It's a great chance for students to interact with completely different cultures, and Tombstone has a sister school in the colonial town, and the sports teams. Tombstone has resorted to bus for its students to practice in the O.K. Corral. And, the average age of presentation for treatment is 36 years and said that he likes his version of the events at the O.K. Corral. "You might say we were there. We have been working to get the word out — just not locally but around the world."

The Tombstone Epitaph.

Eirene Linn, the committee’s treasurer and owner of Six Gun City, has been busy planning the celebration, from having paperwork to organizing events.

Robert Devere, new principal at the Tombstone High School, never expected a career in education after spending 15 years as a small-business owner.

Devere has big plans for THS and said he sees it becoming the premier academic school in Cochise County. "I decided teaching would make me happy, and it's what I'm doing," he said.

Women are twice as likely to seek treatment than men, said Schiffmire.

Yellow Jackets run to victory

By Katie Miller

The Tombstone Epitaph

Having several girls on the varsity volleyball team isn't the least bit unusual for Coach Vern Mooney, who has been coaching the team at the Tombstone High School.

The Yellow Jackets have had a good run so far this season, which has seen them beat their opponents with ease. Their record is currently 8-1, making them one of the top teams in the league.

In their most recent game, against the Ray High Bears, the Yellow Jackets emerged victorious with a score of 3-0. The team's performance was commendable, with standout performances from players such as Elizabeth Smith and Sarah Anderson, who contributed significantly to the team's success.

Defensive and offensive strategies were well-executed, with the team's defense shutting down the Bears' offense effectively. On the other hand, the offense was strong and resilient, with several key points scored that secured the victory.

With the win, the Yellow Jackets move closer to their goal of reaching the championship round. Their next challenge will be against the Benson High Bears, whom they lost to in a close game earlier this season. The team is eager to redeem themselves and claim the victory.

The upcoming games will be a test of the Yellow Jackets' mettle, as they face tough opponents. However, the team is well-prepared and ready to face any challenge that comes their way. Their focus remains on teamwork, determination, and excellence, ensuring they give their best in every game.

Tombstone's Lady Jackets fall to Sahuarita, drop to 1-4

By Michael Irish

The Tombstone Epitaph

The Tombstone Yellow Jackets faced the Sahuarita High School Bobcats in a thrilling game at the Willcox High School on Saturday, Sept. 26. The game was hotly contested, with both teams displaying their skills and determination.

The Yellow Jackets started off strong, with Elizabeth Smith scoring the first touchdown of the game. The Bobcats made a comeback in the second quarter, with Sarah Anderson scoring a touchdown to tie the game. However, the Yellow Jackets were not to be outdone, and they responded with another touchdown by Elizabeth Smith to take the lead back.

The third quarter was a battle of wits, with both teams holding their ground. The Bobcats attempted to score a touchdown but were stopped by the Yellow Jackets' defense. The Yellow Jackets capitalized on this opportunity, scoring another touchdown to widen their lead.

The fourth quarter was a tense standoff, with both teams trying to secure the win. The Bobcats made a last-ditch effort to score a touchdown, but the Yellow Jackets' defense was up to the challenge, stopping the Bobcats short.

In the end, the Yellow Jackets emerged victorious with a score of 29-20. The win was a testament to their hard work, dedication, and teamwork. The team is now set for their next game, and they are looking forward to proving their mettle once again.

Rancher coach enjoys his jobs

By Lance Egston

The Tombstone Epitaph

Nine years after returning as head varsity football coach of Tombstone, Mike Hayhurst has influenced countless young athletes.

"They might not know how to deal with adversity," said Hayhurst. "They don't know how to deal with a coach and parents in a more serious manner." Tombstone's Athletic Director Michael Bunnell said Hayhurst began his coaching and teaching career in 1985 after graduating from Northern Arizona University. He led his team in the field, taught players and chemistry, and had two children — a daughter and a son.

Starting off as coach, the first thing Hayhurst did was oblige his players about his philosophy on life: The most important thing is when you get your football field to one game to see if you are any good," Hayhurst said. "Now is the time to give you anything for free," he said. "You got your job done, and you got your love for the game for free." He also learned to get his job done on the field, and make off on a five-o'clocker.

Other players, including starting quarterback Geno Jones, 16, said Hayhurst knew how to be better man under Hayhurst's coaching. "I feel like he's learned to get his job done off the field, and get people on the right path.

"It's not about how many plays you get in the game," Hayhurst said. "It's not about how many points you score. It's just about teaching these kids can work very hard, and they can work in a team. If they can play together, they can get along together."

Hayhurst is in his ninth season as head coach of Tombstone High's varsity football team. Under his guidance, the Yellow Jackets made it to the 2A state playoffs and appeared in the state championship.

He is keeping games on the football field, installing numerous lessons and work ethics to players and assistant coaches, Bunnell said.

"He tells us never to give up, always keep going, always fight," said Jones. "He tells us never to give up, always fight, always go, always go, always go."

Hayhurst is a cowboy and rancher and continues off Tombstone as a cattle rancher, which took up most of his time. According to the coach, teaching and counseling together would follow as defensive coordinator at Mountainside High School in Marana.

"I still want and had the desire to be a head coach," Hayhurst said. "I want to be involved, and they would help him with a defensive coaching position for the team at Casa Grande High School.

"We give our players a matter every day that reinforces everything he wants his team to do for their future."

"We're working, you can do on me."