Illegal spunkling fun for locals; city official warns of danger

By Bob Watkins

The Tombstone Epitaph

Every year the plumbers of Arizona Tombstone to-Burro visit thousands of small and city-sized mines throughout the state as part of the city’s most prestigious event, also known as the "Plumbing Days." They have spent hundreds of hours during the years teaching plumbers to maintain and fix the mines.

On Saturday, April 15, 2006, the annual event will be held. Plumbers from all over the country will be on hand to help the mine workers with the mines.

The event is open to the public and will be held at the Tombstone Elementary School. The event will feature a variety of activities, including a mine tour, a mine show, and a mine competition.

The event is free and open to the public. For more information, please contact the Tombstone Elementary School at 520-207-5656.

The Tombstone Epitaph Epitaph

In The Dark

By Bob Watkins

The Tombstone Epitaph

Illegal spunkling fun for locals; city official warns of danger

By Bob Watkins

The Tombstone Epitaph

Every year the plumbers of Arizona Tombstone to-Burro visit thousands of small and city-sized mines throughout the state as part of the city’s most prestigious event, also known as the "Plumbing Days." They have spent hundreds of hours during the years teaching plumbers to maintain and fix the mines.

On Saturday, April 15, 2006, the annual event will be held. Plumbers from all over the country will be on hand to help the mine workers with the mines.

The event is open to the public and will be held at the Tombstone Elementary School. The event will feature a variety of activities, including a mine tour, a mine show, and a mine competition.

The event is free and open to the public. For more information, please contact the Tombstone Elementary School at 520-207-5656.

The Tombstone Epitaph Epitaph

In The Dark

By Bob Watkins

The Tombstone Epitaph

Illegal spunkling fun for locals; city official warns of danger

By Bob Watkins

The Tombstone Epitaph

Every year the plumbers of Arizona Tombstone to-Burro visit thousands of small and city-sized mines throughout the state as part of the city’s most prestigious event, also known as the "Plumbing Days." They have spent hundreds of hours during the years teaching plumbers to maintain and fix the mines.

On Saturday, April 15, 2006, the annual event will be held. Plumbers from all over the country will be on hand to help the mine workers with the mines.

The event is open to the public and will be held at the Tombstone Elementary School. The event will feature a variety of activities, including a mine tour, a mine show, and a mine competition.

The event is free and open to the public. For more information, please contact the Tombstone Elementary School at 520-207-5656.

The Tombstone Epitaph Epitaph

In The Dark

By Bob Watkins

The Tombstone Epitaph

Illegal spunkling fun for locals; city official warns of danger

By Bob Watkins

The Tombstone Epitaph

Every year the plumbers of Arizona Tombstone to-Burro visit thousands of small and city-sized mines throughout the state as part of the city’s most prestigious event, also known as the "Plumbing Days." They have spent hundreds of hours during the years teaching plumbers to maintain and fix the mines.

On Saturday, April 15, 2006, the annual event will be held. Plumbers from all over the country will be on hand to help the mine workers with the mines.

The event is open to the public and will be held at the Tombstone Elementary School. The event will feature a variety of activities, including a mine tour, a mine show, and a mine competition.

The event is free and open to the public. For more information, please contact the Tombstone Elementary School at 520-207-5656.

The Tombstone Epitaph Epitaph

In The Dark

By Bob Watkins

The Tombstone Epitaph

Illegal spunkling fun for locals; city official warns of danger

By Bob Watkins

The Tombstone Epitaph

Every year the plumbers of Arizona Tombstone to-Burro visit thousands of small and city-sized mines throughout the state as part of the city’s most prestigious event, also known as the "Plumbing Days." They have spent hundreds of hours during the years teaching plumbers to maintain and fix the mines.

On Saturday, April 15, 2006, the annual event will be held. Plumbers from all over the country will be on hand to help the mine workers with the mines.

The event is open to the public and will be held at the Tombstone Elementary School. The event will feature a variety of activities, including a mine tour, a mine show, and a mine competition.

The event is free and open to the public. For more information, please contact the Tombstone Elementary School at 520-207-5656.
Although it was implemented in schools not a decade ago, the AIMS test remains a hot topic among students and parents. For John Thaden, a student at Tombstone High School, the test is a constant reminder of the work he needs to do.

"I tell people that I don't mean to have it, but it does bother me a little bit. It's not as bad as it seems, but it's just something that's been all over the school the past four years," Thaden said.

The AIMS test, which stands for Arizona Department of Education Measurement, is a standardized measure of student achievement. The test was implemented in Arizona schools in 1997, and since then, has been a major factor in the education system.

The AIMS test is part of Arizona’s Aims for Success program, which was created in 1997 as a way to assess student achievement and help identify areas that need improvement. The test is given to students in grades 3 through 11, and covers reading, writing, and math.

The AIMS test has been controversial from the start. Some parents have criticized the test for being too difficult, while others have praised it for providing a standardized measure of student achievement.

Thaden, who is in his senior year, is one of the students who has been impacted by the AIMS test. He said that the test has put extra pressure on him and his classmates.

"I think it affects a lot of people, but I don’t know how much it affects everybody. I’m sure it affects some people more than others, but I think it affects a lot of people," Thaden said.

The AIMS test has been a battleground to fight over how Arizona’s education system should work. Supporters say students aren’t learning the way they should be, and that the test allows administrators and teachers to best cur- riculum their curriculum on vital requirements. Opponents say the test pressures students and that the test allows administrators and teachers to best curriculum their curriculum on vital requirements.

Opponents say the test pressures students and that the test allows administrators and teachers to best curriculum their curriculum on vital requirements. Opponents say the test pressures students and that the test allows administrators and teachers to best curriculum their curriculum on vital requirements.

Opponents say the test pressures students and that the test allows administrators and teachers to best curriculum their curriculum on vital requirements. Opponents say the test pressures students and that the test allows administrators and teachers to best curriculum their curriculum on vital requirements.

Opponents say the test pressures students and that the test allows administrators and teachers to best curriculum their curriculum on vital requirements. Opponents say the test pressures students and that the test allows administrators and teachers to best curriculum their curriculum on vital requirements.

Opponents say the test pressures students and that the test allows administrators and teachers to best curriculum their curriculum on vital requirements. Opponents say the test pressures students and that the test allows administrators and teachers to best curriculum their curriculum on vital requirements. Opponents say the test pressures students and that the test allows administrators and teachers to best curriculum their curriculum on vital requirements.
Strapped for cash, Tombstone schools take grant snatching strategy

By Laura Levine
THE TOMBSTONE EPITAPH

Thirty-seven students filed into Paul Yoth’s math class at Tombstone High School on a day that with only two weeks left before the end of the school year, only a few classes were left to be covered. The day was close to being finished with the needed supplies.

The students needed a day filled with activities that would allow them to stay engaged and avoid disruptive behavior. They were given the opportunity to choose between two types of activities: playing a video game or participating in a science experiment.

As the students were engaged in their chosen activities, a teacher walked around the room, checking on their progress and providing guidance when necessary. The students were happy with the activities and expressed their appreciation for the efforts of the teacher.

Anyone interested in learning more about this event or volunteering to help can contact the school’s administration by calling 555-1234.
Coronado National Park offers variety of activities

By Christian Payne

Tucson.com Sports Writer

A short drive from historic Tucson, the park has a multitude of activities including bird watching, hiking, and horseback riding.

Coronado National Park Trail: A three-mile drive from downtown Tucson leads to the park’s east entrance. There are paved roads through through Arizona’s desert gradient. The trails in Lincoln National Forest lead to the park and from the park to the San Rafael and San Pedro Valleys are the focal points of the 877,600 acres park.

The Cast, Trail: Turtles round, is family and animal friendly. Dogs and horses are permitted on this trail.

RUNNERS First p.1

“Puzzle" is one of the “Zen Huddles," Lisa said. Lisa is a natural person who are people who try to guess where the hair is taking them and very early in the race, she is finding a short line. Lisa is very much the same person as her daughter who is also a runner.

A pickup hash is different than a regular hash because you have to stand in the middle of the circle.

Lisa is a member of many hashes with a hash in her hometown.

Lisa has been having for nearly a decade a hash that she likes to attend due to her ability to find her way to the different locations.

The first hash that Lisa attended in 1998, but she did not know what to expect. She would not reveal more details.

Lisa has had a long list of people and told her about the hash. Lisa said, “I have a little more than 50 people, but I started huddling and hugging every single person that walks by me."

One point to the loop back on the trails is that Lisa has gotten to know a lot of people. Lisa said, "I have a big huddle and a big discussion about this."

Lisa has been having for four years and is giving the following advice to the participants.

The “Puzzle" is a puzzle that Lisa has and she said the hair is taken away and a real puzzle comes from the previous experience in the desert.

Lisa often has to use her teeth together as a defense mechanism. She will use her teeth to defend herself.

Lisa is one of the most popular weapons to hunt javelina, said Pat Feldt, owner of Trail Boss Outfitters in Sierra Vista.

Lisa is very experienced in hunting and has always been allowed to hunt because she is a doctor and has been in the service.

Lisa is very familiar with the hunting territory and is a way of discussing hunting.

News of Lisa’s huddling is a way of discussing hunting and is a way of discussing hunting.

Lisa is an expert in hunting and has always been allowed to hunt because she is a doctor and has been in the service.

Lisa is very familiar with the hunting territory and is a way of discussing hunting.

News of Lisa’s huddling is a way of discussing hunting and is a way of discussing hunting.

Lisa is an expert in hunting and has always been allowed to hunt because she is a doctor and has been in the service.

Lisa is very familiar with the hunting territory and is a way of discussing hunting.