Actor returns to local roots after N.Y. stint

By Laura Hawkins

Arizona isn’t the first place that comes to mind when one thinks of theaters. The typical young performer might be the typical actor-school school in New York, find a gig on Broadway or join a nation- al touring show. Ben Carson, of course, made Tombstone his stage.

“People have already experi- enced the myth and the legend because they’ve watched the movies when they were young. Now, it’s time to experience the reality,” he said.”

Ben Carson attended Caperton Elementary School. With support from his family, he went on to attend American Musical and Dramatic Academy in New York. “I want to go to school on Broadway,” he said.

But working at the chain store wasn’t what Carson wanted. While he was in New York, his cousin, a member of a family of actors and musicians, told him, “You should go to a private person, and she has

Actor returns to local roots after N.Y. stint

By Laura Hawkins

Arizona isn’t the first place that comes to mind when one thinks of theaters. The typical young performer might be the typical actor-school school in New York, find a gig on Broadway or join a nation- al touring show. Ben Carson, of course, made Tombstone his stage.

“People have already experi- enced the myth and the legend because they’ve watched the movies when they were young. Now, it’s time to experience the reality,” he said.”

Ben Carson attended Caperton Elementary School. With support from his family, he went on to attend American Musical and Dramatic Academy in New York. “I want to go to school on Broadway,” he said.

But working at the chain store wasn’t what Carson wanted. While he was in New York, his cousin, a member of a family of actors and musicians, told him, “You should go to

Actor returns to local roots after N.Y. stint

By Laura Hawkins

Arizona isn’t the first place that comes to mind when one thinks of theaters. The typical young performer might be the typical actor-school school in New York, find a gig on Broadway or join a nation- al touring show. Ben Carson, of course, made Tombstone his stage.

“People have already experi- enced the myth and the legend because they’ve watched the movies when they were young. Now, it’s time to experience the reality,” he said.”

Ben Carson attended Caperton Elementary School. With support from his family, he went on to attend American Musical and Dramatic Academy in New York. “I want to go to school on Broadway,” he said.

But working at the chain store wasn’t what Carson wanted. While he was in New York, his cousin, a member of a family of actors and musicians, told him, “You should go to

Actor returns to local roots after N.Y. stint

By Laura Hawkins

Arizona isn’t the first place that comes to mind when one thinks of theaters. The typical young performer might be the typical actor-school school in New York, find a gig on Broadway or join a nation- al touring show. Ben Carson, of course, made Tombstone his stage.

“People have already experi- enced the myth and the legend because they’ve watched the movies when they were young. Now, it’s time to experience the reality,” he said.”

Ben Carson attended Caperton Elementary School. With support from his family, he went on to attend American Musical and Dramatic Academy in New York. “I want to go to school on Broadway,” he said.

But working at the chain store wasn’t what Carson wanted. While he was in New York, his cousin, a member of a family of actors and musicians, told him, “You should go to

Actor returns to local roots after N.Y. stint

By Laura Hawkins

Arizona isn’t the first place that comes to mind when one thinks of theaters. The typical young performer might be the typical actor-school school in New York, find a gig on Broadway or join a nation- al touring show. Ben Carson, of course, made Tombstone his stage.

“People have already experi- enced the myth and the legend because they’ve watched the movies when they were young. Now, it’s time to experience the reality,” he said.”

Ben Carson attended Caperton Elementary School. With support from his family, he went on to attend American Musical and Dramatic Academy in New York. “I want to go to school on Broadway,” he said.

But working at the chain store wasn’t what Carson wanted. While he was in New York, his cousin, a member of a family of actors and musicians, told him, “You should go to

Actor returns to local roots after N.Y. stint

By Laura Hawkins

Arizona isn’t the first place that comes to mind when one thinks of theaters. The typical young performer might be the typical actor-school school in New York, find a gig on Broadway or join a nation- al touring show. Ben Carson, of course, made Tombstone his stage.

“People have already experi- enced the myth and the legend because they’ve watched the movies when they were young. Now, it’s time to experience the reality,” he said.”

Ben Carson attended Caperton Elementary School. With support from his family, he went on to attend American Musical and Dramatic Academy in New York. “I want to go to school on Broadway,” he said.

But working at the chain store wasn’t what Carson wanted. While he was in New York, his cousin, a member of a family of actors and musicians, told him, “You should go to

Actor returns to local roots after N.Y. stint

By Laura Hawkins

Arizona isn’t the first place that comes to mind when one thinks of theaters. The typical young performer might be the typical actor-school school in New York, find a gig on Broadway or join a nation- al touring show. Ben Carson, of course, made Tombstone his stage.

“People have already experi- enced the myth and the legend because they’ve watched the movies when they were young. Now, it’s time to experience the reality,” he said.”

Ben Carson attended Caperton Elementary School. With support from his family, he went on to attend American Musical and Dramatic Academy in New York. “I want to go to school on Broadway,” he said.

But working at the chain store wasn’t what Carson wanted. While he was in New York, his cousin, a member of a family of actors and musicians, told him, “You should go to

Actor returns to local roots after N.Y. stint

By Laura Hawkins

Arizona isn’t the first place that comes to mind when one thinks of theaters. The typical young performer might be the typical actor-school school in New York, find a gig on Broadway or join a nation- al touring show. Ben Carson, of course, made Tombstone his stage.

“People have already experi- enced the myth and the legend because they’ve watched the movies when they were young. Now, it’s time to experience the reality,” he said.”

Ben Carson attended Caperton Elementary School. With support from his family, he went on to attend American Musical and Dramatic Academy in New York. “I want to go to school on Broadway,” he said.

But working at the chain store wasn’t what Carson wanted. While he was in New York, his cousin, a member of a family of actors and musicians, told him, “You should go to

Actor returns to local roots after N.Y. stint

By Laura Hawkins

Arizona isn’t the first place that comes to mind when one thinks of theaters. The typical young performer might be the typical actor-school school in New York, find a gig on Broadway or join a nation- al touring show. Ben Carson, of course, made Tombstone his stage.

“People have already experi- enced the myth and the legend because they’ve watched the movies when they were young. Now, it’s time to experience the reality,” he said.”

Ben Carson attended Caperton Elementary School. With support from his family, he went on to attend American Musical and Dramatic Academy in New York. “I want to go to school on Broadway,” he said.

But working at the chain store wasn’t what Carson wanted. While he was in New York, his cousin, a member of a family of actors and musicians, told him, “You should go to

Actor returns to local roots after N.Y. stint

By Laura Hawkins

Arizona isn’t the first place that comes to mind when one thinks of theaters. The typical young performer might be the typical actor-school school in New York, find a gig on Broadway or join a nation- al touring show. Ben Carson, of course, made Tombstone his stage.

“People have already experi- enced the myth and the legend because they’ve watched the movies when they were young. Now, it’s time to experience the reality,” he said.”

Ben Carson attended Caperton Elementary School. With support from his family, he went on to attend American Musical and Dramatic Academy in New York. “I want to go to school on Broadway,” he said.

But working at the chain store wasn’t what Carson wanted. While he was in New York, his cousin, a member of a family of actors and musicians, told him, “You should go to

Actor returns to local roots after N.Y. stint

By Laura Hawkins

Arizona isn’t the first place that comes to mind when one thinks of theaters. The typical young performer might be the typical actor-school school in New York, find a gig on Broadway or join a nation- al touring show. Ben Carson, of course, made Tombstone his stage.

“People have already experi- enced the myth and the legend because they’ve watched the movies when they were young. Now, it’s time to experience the reality,” he said.”

Ben Carson attended Caperton Elementary School. With support from his family, he went on to attend American Musical and Dramatic Academy in New York. “I want to go to school on Broadway,” he said.

But working at the chain store wasn’t what Carson wanted. While he was in New York, his cousin, a member of a family of actors and musicians, told him, “You should go to

Actor returns to local roots after N.Y. stint

By Laura Hawkins

Arizona isn’t the first place that comes to mind when one thinks of theaters. The typical young performer might be the typical actor-school school in New York, find a gig on Broadway or join a nation- al touring show. Ben Carson, of course, made Tombstone his stage.

“People have already experi- enced the myth and the legend because they’ve watched the movies when they were young. Now, it’s time to experience the reality,” he said.”

Ben Carson attended Caperton Elementary School. With support from his family, he went on to attend American Musical and Dramatic Academy in New York. “I want to go to school on Broadway,” he said.

But working at the chain store wasn’t what Carson wanted. While he was in New York, his cousin, a member of a family of actors and musicians, told him, “You should go to

Actor returns to local roots after N.Y. stint

By Laura Hawkins

Arizona isn’t the first place that comes to mind when one thinks of theaters. The typical young performer might be the typical actor-school school in New York, find a gig on Broadway or join a nation- al touring show. Ben Carson, of course, made Tombstone his stage.

“People have already experi- enced the myth and the legend because they’ve watched the movies when they were young. Now, it’s time to experience the reality,” he said.”

Ben Carson attended Caperton Elementary School. With support from his family, he went on to attend American Musical and Dramatic Academy in New York. “I want to go to school on Broadway,” he said.

But working at the chain store wasn’t what Carson wanted. While he was in New York, his cousin, a member of a family of actors and musicians, told him, “You should go to

Actor returns to local roots after N.Y. stint

By Laura Hawkins

Arizona isn’t the first place that comes to mind when one thinks of theaters. The typical young performer might be the typical actor-school school in New York, find a gig on Broadway or join a nation- al touring show. Ben Carson, of course, made Tombstone his stage.

“People have already experi- enced the myth and the legend because they’ve watched the movies when they were young. Now, it’s time to experience the reality,” he said.”

Ben Carson attended Caperton Elementary School. With support from his family, he went on to attend American Musical and Dramatic Academy in New York. “I want to go to school on Broadway,” he said.

But working at the chain store wasn’t what Carson wanted. While he was in New York, his cousin, a member of a family of actors and musicians, told him, “You should go to

Actor returns to local roots after N.Y. sti
Laura Hawkins

Matt Andazola

New teacher tackles English

By Matt Kielty
The Tombstone Epitaph

A new teacher has taken on the challenge of English classes at Tombstone High School, bringing with him a passion for literature and the arts. Despite the challenges, he has found a way to connect with his students and make a positive impact on their lives.

When asked about his teaching philosophy, he said, "I think the key is to make the students feel valued and respected. If they feel like they're being heard, they're more likely to engage with the material and learn." He believes that every student has the potential to succeed, and it's his job as a teacher to help them reach their full potential.

He has already made a difference in the lives of his students, inspiring them to pursue their dreams and encouraging them to think critically.

"I want them to understand how much research goes into writing," he said. "It's not like I'm making up stories to describe the scales. I know for a fact that she had to do tons of research for things like that." Once the book came out, he took it to the school and the students were fascinated by the intricate details and the research that went into it. The book won an award for best historical fiction in Arizona.

Nurse eases schooltime maladies

By Davida Larson
The Tombstone Epitaph

Mary Lewis cares for about 300 students with one team of nurses, including a registered nurse, a licensed practical nurse, and a medical assistant. She oversees the operations of the school's medical center, ensuring that students receive the care they need.

Lewis and her team work closely with school administrators and teachers to identify and address any health concerns that may arise. They strive to maintain a positive and supportive environment where students feel comfortable seeking help when they need it.

A new teacher tackles English

By Matt Kielty
The Tombstone Epitaph

A new teacher has taken on the challenge of English classes at Tombstone High School, bringing with him a passion for literature and the arts. Despite the challenges, he has found a way to connect with his students and make a positive impact on their lives.

When asked about his teaching philosophy, he said, "I think the key is to make the students feel valued and respected. If they feel like they're being heard, they're more likely to engage with the material and learn." He believes that every student has the potential to succeed, and it's his job as a teacher to help them reach their full potential.

He has already made a difference in the lives of his students, inspiring them to pursue their dreams and encouraging them to think critically.

"I want them to understand how much research goes into writing," he said. "It's not like I'm making up stories to describe the scales. I know for a fact that she had to do tons of research for things like that." Once the book came out, he took it to the school and the students were fascinated by the intricate details and the research that went into it. The book won an award for best historical fiction in Arizona.
Petite woman takes hold of big reins

By Ellen Guill

THE TOMBSTONE EPIPHANY

Even though Liz Ingalls is only 4 feet, 11 inches tall, she runs the Visitor's Center in Tombstone and makes sure that the businesses in town are aware of how to participate in events. As the executive director of the Chamber of Commerce, which represents more than 700 businesses, she helps them understand what it means to have a downtown business in Tombstone. "The Chamber of Commerce is more than a way to support the downtown, it is a way to support the economy of the whole town," Ingalls said.

Ingalls was born in Tombstone and has lived in the area all her life. "I love living here. My family has been here for generations," she said. "We have a lot of community pride and a lot of history here." Ingalls has been involved in many community activities over the past few years, including working on the downtown revitalization project. "I just love the history of the town and the people who have lived here," she said. "I want to make sure that the community is aware of all the things that we have to offer." Ingalls is also involved in the Chamber of Commerce, which represents more than 700 businesses in the area.

Jewelry wizard’s tally reaches 20,000

By Christine Sullivan

THE TOMBSTONE EPIPHANY

Don Paonessa moved to Tombstone in 1977 after working in New Mexico for 12 years. Paonessa, who is known for his ability to design and make jewelry, said that he never knew that he would end up in Tombstone with his business.

"We are the only shop in town that makes jewelry," he said. "I never thought I would be working in Tombstone with his business." Paonessa was born in New York and moved to Tombstone with his wife and two children in 1977.

Paonessa said that he started working in Tombstone because he wanted to be able to make jewelry. "I just love making jewelry," he said. "I have been making jewelry for over 40 years now." Paonessa has been making jewelry for over 40 years and has created over 20,000 custom pieces of jewelry.

Marksmen’s skills span lifetime

By Matt Kieft

THE TOMBSTONE EPIPHANY

Major Golden has always been a marksman. He started shooting when he was a young boy and has been shooting ever since. After he graduated from college, he moved around Arizona, Utah and New Mexico. In Tombstone, he has been shooting for over 40 years. Golden has won numerous awards and honors, including the Arizona State Championship. He has also competed in the Championship Silhouette Shooting and has won numerous trophies over the years.

Golden's passion for shooting started when he was a child. "I really enjoyed shooting and wanted to see how far I could go," he said. "I started competing when I was 12 years old, and it's been a lifelong hobby for me." Golden has been shooting for over 40 years and has won numerous awards and honors in the sport.

Golden said that his passion for shooting started when he was a child. "I really enjoyed shooting and wanted to see how far I could go," he said. "I started competing when I was 12 years old, and it's been a lifelong hobby for me." Golden has been shooting for over 40 years and has won numerous awards and honors in the sport.

Golden's performance in Tombstone is a testament to his dedication and hard work. "I have been shooting for over 40 years, and I still enjoy it as much as I did when I was a kid," he said. "I love being out in the field and competing against others." Golden has won numerous awards and honors in the sport, including the Arizona State Championship and the Championship Silhouette Shooting. He has also competed in the Championship Silhouette Shooting and has won numerous trophies over the years.

Golden's passion for shooting has been with him for over 40 years. "I have been shooting for as long as I can remember," he said. "It's a part of me, and I don't see myself giving it up anytime soon." Golden's dedication and hard work have paid off in the sport.

Golden's performance in Tombstone is a testament to his dedication and hard work. "I have been shooting for over 40 years, and I still enjoy it as much as I did when I was a kid," he said. "I love being out in the field and competing against others." Golden has won numerous awards and honors in the sport, including the Arizona State Championship and the Championship Silhouette Shooting. He has also competed in the Championship Silhouette Shooting and has won numerous trophies over the years. Golden's passion for shooting has been with him for over 40 years. "I have been shooting for as long as I can remember," he said. "It's a part of me, and I don't see myself giving it up anytime soon." Golden's dedication and hard work have paid off in the sport.
Siblings! Web site attracts hits from around the globe.

"And now, a story from Pennsylvania." Deacon Warden

Deacon Warden and his wife, Peggy, were being interviewed in their home, which is located on the outskirts of Tombstone. They had just returned from their annual vacation to Costa Rica, where they had spent two weeks volunteering at a local library.

Deacon: "Peggy and I have always been big library lovers. We even have a library in our backyard in Costa Rica!"

Peggy: "Yes, we do. And we have a lot of friends who come to visit us and they love it too."

Deacon: "But we never thought a library would actually grow from this. We started out by just lending out books and tapes, but eventually we started charging a small fee for borrowing. And then people started coming from all over to see our library."

Peggy: "It's amazing how much people love libraries. They come from everywhere to see our library and to check out our books and videos."

Deacon: "We even have a website where people can browse our collection and make requests. It's been a real hit."

Peggy: "We really have no idea how many people have visited our library. We have a counter on our website that shows how many hits we've received. And it's well over 1 million now!"

Deacon: "And people keep coming back. We have new visitors every day. It's been a real joy to see how much people love our library."

Peggy: "We've even had a few people who have moved to Costa Rica just so they can come to our library."

Deacon: "It's been a real blessing for us. We never thought we could help so many people in such a small place."

Peggy: "But we're just getting started. We have plans to expand our library and offer more services. We're really excited about the future."

Deacon: "And we're always looking for new volunteers to help us. If you're interested, you can visit our website and sign up. We'd love to have you join our team."

Peggy: "And if you ever come to Tombstone, you have to stop by our library. It's a real treat!"